DEDICATION

We, the Class of '50, DEDICATE this issue of the KEEPSAKE to our School. Not to the building alone, but to all that school stands for, . . . Our Friends, Teachers, Ideas, our Problems, and our Joys. As we go through life we will always be proud of and grateful for the impression that our School has left upon us.

Thanks!

The years may come; the years may go
They may be swift; they may be slow.
But one thing all seniors know,
A debt of gratitude they owe.
To parents dear and teachers too,
To all the tasks they had to do,
To hours of cheer and days of gloom
To campus strolls, to hall and room.
For lessons learned, for goals achieved,
For joy sublime and doubts relieved,
For days of toil and hours of ease,
For rest and work and learning not to shirk,
For friendships trusted, tried and true,
For peaceful courtesies to pursue
For these and countless more our hearts may soar.
Our voices day by day will ring
And praises to Mount Ulla sing.

Our Alma Mater

(TUNE: The Bells of Saint Mary's)

Oh, class of Mount Ulla
Our school we are leaving
Our first love, our true love
We bid you adieu
And so my beloved
When school days are ending
The Seniors give due praise
Through endless days to you.

May fortune and honor
Your heritage be
Your influence will linger
Eternally
And so my beloved
When school days are ending
The Seniors give due praise
Through endless days to you.

PROPHECY

My! How time does fly. Just this afternoon I was thinking that our last year together at school is swiftly drawing to a close. Fate sometimes plays tricks and guides our lives down deep and wonderful paths.

Somewhere, sometime, I had heard tales of how Mammy Pansy, an old colored lady who lives close by, had once more use of the art of fortune telling by using coffee grounds. My faith in fortune telling never was very deep, but my curiosity seemed to be unconquerable. So what was there for me to do but to go down to Mammy's little tumble down house and try to coax her to tell me about some of the destinies of my classmates. So down the path I went, crawled under the fence, a very dignified thing for a senior to do, and found myself in Mammy's front yard.

Have you ever tried to get someone to tell 43 fortunes for the price of one fortune and the promise to pay for it in the future? The words of a very distinguished personality strike me as being very descriptive of my predicament. They are, "It ain't easy." Mammy, always a generous and obliging soul, agreed to tell me what she knew and what I hoped to hear and went over to an unpainted cabinet in the corner and brought out a cup and proceeded to get ready to tell the fortunes. She planted her plump body on the none-too-stout rocking chair, peered into the cup and started mumbling.

Fans cheering? Large crowds? Why of course, Bob Drury, Lonnie Graham, and Don Belk are right out there playing an excellent baseball game for the Dodgers. Who's winning? The Yankees.

I smell paint. Oh surely, now I get it, Lester Peeler and Alex Corriher have worked their way up from painting eight hours a day to being President and Vice-President, respectively, of the North Carolina Labor Union of Painters.

George Hamby, a very famous doctor, wandered into a ritzy barber shop the other day and had a very unpleasant shave, the barber being Glenn Owen. I can remember that they always picked at each other at school.

What, Mammy? You think you hear cows lowing? Then that must be Carl Lentz and John Henry Bollinger. They both graduated from the N. C. State College and are now its prize instructors. Another cow? Oh yes, Bob Weast is the most talked about Farm Agent in Rowan County. And I do mean talked about. He has spent a great deal of time over at Johnny Cline's 500-acre farm.

Carolyn Moore, Hilda Blackwelder, and Pearl Bostian, they were always the best of pals at school, have opened the most famous beauty shop in Mooresville's history. They are well on their way to fame and fortune.

For goodness sakes, Mammy, don't stop to hum now, let's get along with the fortunes. Why that must be Margaret Cauble. She's one of the finest and most talented music teachers in the state.

What forms those coffee grounds must be taking. I can't understand what a lot of small children would have to do with a fortune, unless it means that Nena Faye Karriker and Faye Brown are very prominent teachers in North Carolina. And Betty Weast is now principal of the model school of North Carolina.

What's that you say, Mammy? You are certain that you see a lot of money? I can't imagine anyone in the 1950 class having any money. Oh now I know! Jimmy Lefler was elected Mayor of Mooresville and is rapidly improving the city. He is at last fulfilling his desire to become a millionaire.

Betsey Barber has become a world famous artist. Don Stiller is always around when she is ready to go to some distant part of the earth for inspiration. He is co-owner of the Stiller-Phipps Airline Company. Bill Phipps is the better half of it.

Hugh Miller and Donald Blackwelder are chief mechanics at the main field of the Company.

Now Mammy Pansy, you can't tell me that Patty Wiggins is a very successful model in New York. Patty was always one to succeed.

All right, rest a few minutes but not long, Mammy, because I'm already anxious to find out about the other seniors.

Ellis London is the chief stenographer at the most swanky bank in Salisbury. Her pastime is being a housewife.

A large body of water could mean but one thing and that is that Betty Owen is on her way to Palestine to make her life's dream come true. A wonderful missionary she will be.

Mammy thinks she sees a very important executive's office in Washington. Well, can you imagine that? I see Mildred Kerr and Nellie Davis both fighting over who takes dictation today. Now here come two nurses—I must be going crazy—but it is still Margaret McKnight and Lillian Miller. That certainly is a happy Mount Ulla reunion.

Frankie Davis is on the staff of the University of Florida. She teaches Home Economics and is one of the best teachers at the University. Sarah Eargle is head of the English and Dramatics Departments there.

Bill Graham, Tom Turner, and Gilbert Goodman have just opened a very successful dairy. I hear they have almost ruined the other dairy competition.

Quintin McKnight can fill only this position. Mammy is positive that she sees a mailman. That's what he wanted to be.

Bill Ballard, they say, got married right after graduation. He is now in California trying to cross peaches and pineapples with apples and grapes. Saves time making fruit salad, he says, and we all know he always liked to save time.

Alice McLaughlin made her future very clear in the month of October of our Senior year. I see Alice, a very dainty housewife with two little curly haired children. They are all out in the back yard making mud pies.

John Kistler and Gerald Briggs are operating a remarkably successful garage in Salisbury. Mammy, you certainly seem tired.

Mt. Ulla has a much larger and one of the most beautiful offices in the state. In fact, it requires a full time secretary. Do you know who it is? It's Katherine Orbison.

There is only one more fortune to be told. Mammy peers into the cup once, twice, and then three times. Muttering savagely about something she knocked the cup over, spilling the contents of it down on the stained, but nevertheless clean, floor. "Child," she said, "Yo' fortune is better to remain untold," leaving me to walk back home through the dusky twilight with pleasant memories surging through my mind. Memories of today and yesterday at Mount Ulla High School.

CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1946 a class of fifty-six freshmen stepped into the routine of high school work at Mt. Ulla. We were carefree and happy, being concerned with only the more humorous side of life, but our mind soon turned to more serious thoughts under the leadership of Mr. Jessie Carson and Mrs. Bain Sink.

The result of high school life was a reduction of four pupils with the coming of 1947 and our sophomore year. The remaining fifty-two had Miss Williams and Miss Craven for their advisors.

The fall of 1948 found forty-three juniors combined into one class under the leadership of Mrs. Eudora Spencer. Fifteen of our members were accepted into the National Beta Club. We received great enjoyment from our junior-senior and the preparation for it.

1949 found forty-three determined seniors heading for the climax of high school life, graduation! The president of our class was Carl Lentz, and our instructor was Miss Stevenson. We were awarded our class rings in November.

Our high school life at Mt. Ulla has been filled with enjoyable fellowship and study, which will be looked upon as four years of happiness throughout our life. May we take our places in the world with a faith and a determination that our future life will be as pleasant and successful as that which is now in the past.

STATISTICS

With this year being the turning of the century, I do fully believe that it will take another turn of a century before there will be a graduating class at Mount Ulla High School that will equal this class of 1950.

The boys of the class find that there is an average of six inches difference in the height of them and the nice figures of the weaker sex, with the boy having a frame of five feet and nine inches and 155 pounds placed solidly behind it; of course, this does not include George Hamby, who finds it somewhat easier to commute with the girls, at a lower altitude, who have a figure of 5 feet and three inches, and weigh one hundred thirteen pounds.

The class chose June Allyson and James Stewart as their movie stars and "The Stratton Story" for the movie of the year as far as the class is concerned, which both of these stars played in.

On date night when the "mula" (money) is low they can always tune their radios to "Beulah" which is their favorite program or Vaughn Monroe and his hit tunes, but it takes the one and only Bing Crosby singing their top song, Mule Train, to start them dreaming.

On the menu side of the program I find that fried chicken is their favorite food with ice cream running a close second.

The class could not forget the good old days of romping and playing in the woods of the school grounds and chose playing as their favorite pastime.

Our class is unusual as you have already found out but listen to this, we chose English as our favorite subject. Of course, Miss Stevenson, our most liked and best loved teacher, would have a bearing on this because she taught us English.

We trust that our likes and dislikes will lead us into paths of success and bring us much happiness. May fortune shine on our Alma Mater throughout the coming years!

LAST WILL and TESTAMENT

As the stage coach comes to a standstill and the click of the horses' hoofs dies away—we, the Seniors of '50, being of sound mind, leave to our Underclassmen certain characteristics, reputations and traits, hoping they will accept wholeheartedly and carry on the good work for Mount Ulla High School.

As the time draws near in our journey, we realize that we must dispose of our personal property before leaving. Therefore we wish to dispose of it as follows:

- Item I To our parents, who have made our school days bright and happy ones, we leave our undying love and gratitude.
- Item II To Miss Ina Stevenson, Mr. C. L. Barnhardt and the entire faculty, we leave our heartfelt gratitude and appreciation for guidance through our high school years.
- Item III As individuals we leave this our Last Will and Testament.
 - I, Bill Ballard, leave my ability to get and keep a nice girl.
 - I, Betsey Barber, leave my artistic ability to Bob Petrea with the promise to improve it.

To anyone who is lucky enough, I, Don Belk, leave my ability to lie out of school and to rabbit hunt.

I, Don Blackwelder, will my muscles to Bob Miller.

We, Pearl Bostian, Hilda Blackwelder and Carolyn Moore, leave our love to aggravate Mrs. Sloop to Peggy Lowrance, Naomi Beaver and Shirlene Edwards.

I, John Henry Bollinger, leave my ability to get along with teachers to Ted Kepley.

I, Gerald Briggs, leave my good-natured ways and quiet manner to anybody that needs it.

To Sue (Pete) Coble, I, Faye Brown, will my witty chatter and hearty laughs.

I, Peggy Cauble, will my position as Editor-in-Chief of the Cub to some lucky Junior.

I, Pinky Cauble, will my ability to get along with the mimeograph machine to Edith Anderson, hoping she can get it to work.

We, Jim Lefler and Alex Corriher, leave our big mouths to Paul Lentz and Stephen Kerr.

I, Frankie Davis, leave my height to Beatrice Link.

I, Nellie Davis, leave my position as grade news editor to Martha Cobb, hoping that she can hypnotize the teachers to have the news in on time.

I, Sara Carolyn Eargle, leave my place in History class to my sister, Elizabeth, in hopes that she will learn to talk her head off.

I, Gilbert Goodman, leave my ability to get out of classes to Jimmy Garrison.

I, Bill Graham, leave my love for Mooresville girls to anyone whom it may concern.

I, Lonnie Graham, leave my love for baseball to Donald Meadows.

To Richard Sloan, I, George Hamy, leave my scholastic leadership.

I, Nena Faye Karriker, will my "habit of eating all I want and not gaining a pound" to Alice Lowrance.

I, Mildred Kerr, leave my long hair to Betty Jean Anderson, hoping she doesn't have as much trouble as I do with it.

I, John Kistler, leave my ability to out-argue farm tractors to Grady Hall.

I, Carl Lentz, leave my ability to arrive at school at the last minute to anyone who can time it right.

We, Ellis London and Patty Wiggins, leave our undying friendship for each other to Gertrude Lowrance and Gladys Kistler.

We, Alice McLaughlin and Margaret McKnight, leave our quiet and friendly ways to Peggy Winecoff and Louise Graham.

I, Quintin McKnight, leave my space in classrooms to anyone who can graduate in less time than I did.

I, Lillian Miller, leave my love for commercial subjects to Margaret Livengood.

I, Hugh Miler, leave my stubborn ways to Walter Kluttz.

I, Catherine Orbison, leave my good nature to Barbara Heglar.

I, Glenn Owen, leave my slim figure to Ed Wolfe because he needs it.

I, Betty Sue Owen, being of questionable sound mind, leave it to Phoebe Hall.

I, Lester Peeler, leave my long and speedy legs to Delane Basinger.

I, Bill Phipps, leave my ability to go "stag" to Tommy Kerr.

I, Don Stiller, will my love for a good time to anybody who can put it to as good advantage as I have.

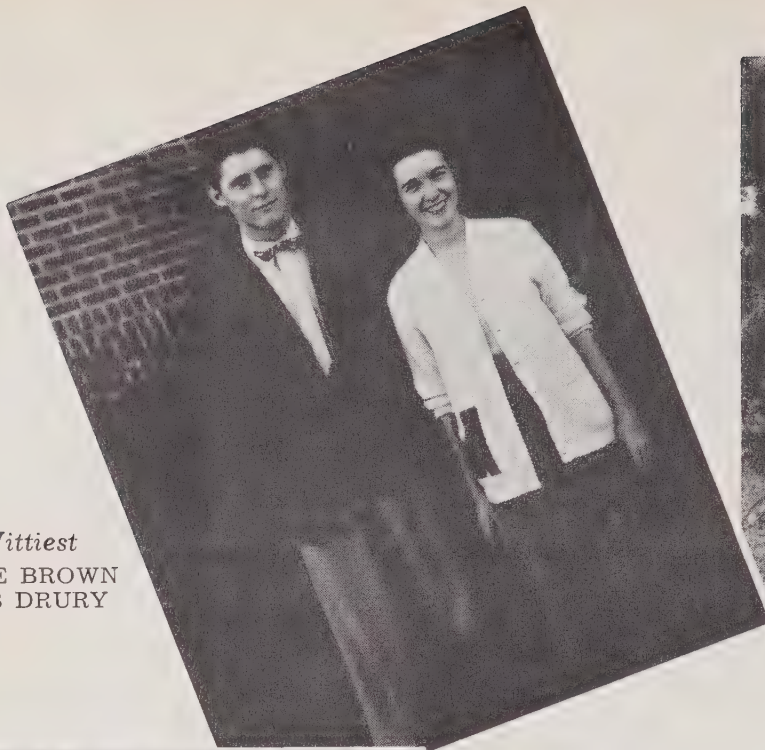

I, Tom Turner, leave my short hair to Alec Morrow.

I, Bob Weast, will my ability to pass all my subjects without studying at home to Gary Carpenter.

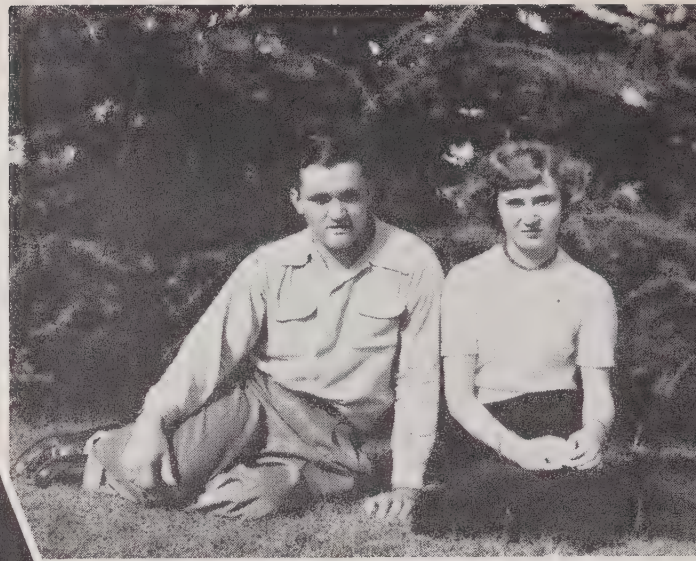

I, Betty Weast, leave my quiet and sober nature to Joyce Holt.

And I, Bob Drury, being in sound mind do affix my signature to this our Last Will and Testament.

A Short Course in Success

Back in 1923 the twenties were just beginning to roar . . . folks were singing "Barney Google", "Ain't Goin' Rain No Mo' ", and "Yes, We Have No Bananas" . . . jazz music was the new sensation and a dance called the Charleston was sweeping the nation . . . the ladies were striving for a boyish figure and the Ziegfeld Girls were the toast of Broadway . . . over in Germany a scrawny little Nazi named Adolph Hitler was thrown in the clink for fomenting a beer-hall rebellion. It was quite a year.

That same year in Burlington, North Carolina, workmen were clearing a nearby cornfield to build a small textile mill. Some local businessmen were risking their money in a bedspread manufacturing venture. That was the beginning of Burlington Mills, a company destined to play a leading role in the rise of man-made yarn from obscurity to a place of major importance in textiles.

During the past 25 years Burlington Mills has grown from one small mill at Burlington into one of the world's largest producers of rayon fabrics. It now has 74 plants in six states and four foreign countries employing over 27,000 people. Teamwork between management and skilled, loyal employees made Burlington Mills a textile leader. Teamwork also produced the highest quality textile products at the lowest possible cost.

This successful formula was possible because American free enterprise permitted constant improvements in materials and machinery, development of our human resources, better methods of production, and an incentive for progress and growth. The formula brought better quality fabrics to the consumer. It brought better jobs, higher pay, increased benefits, and excellent working conditions to employees.

And so, 25 years after, Burlington Mills wears a badge of success. Its multitude of products are truly "Woven Into the Life of America".
